

New funding sources for the publication of SEEJE

Dear Readers,

I have the pleasure to inform you that three Greek universities have agreed jointly to fund our journal, SEEJE. The institutions in question – all members of ASECU – are the University of Macedonia, the University of Ioannina and the University of Western Macedonia. I should like to take this opportunity to extend my thanks to them; not only does their generous support enable us to continue publishing the SEEJE, it also does great honour to the ASECU journal.

The Editorial Board of the journal will henceforth be composed of the Chairman, Professor Theodoros Lianos, and three members nominated by the above universities: Associate Professor Stylianos Fountas from the University of Macedonia; Dr. Grigoris Zarotiadis, Lecturer at the University of Ioannina; and Associate Professor Katerina Sarri of the University of Western Macedonia.

It is the intention of the ASECU Board that the SEEJE should – with the vital contribution of its Editorial Board – continue to improve in its two roles: as a serious journal for the academic and research community, and as a valuable tool for those responsible for tackling the many economic and social problems facing the countries of our region.

Professor Yannis Tsekouras
President of ASECU